

In this work, I made the first task, which is about 3 tasks. The first task is to draw the robot's foot, and I drew it using a solid work, on a scale of 1/10

In the second task, determining the maximum angle between the foot and its original position after moving forward, provided that the foot does not rise above the ground

The third task is to locate the motor in the foot